MAGGIE

Service dogs are dogs that are specifically trained to perform important life tasks for people who have difficulty performing or are unable to perform the task themselves. These tasks are directly related to the handler's disability. Service dogs are working animals, not pets.

Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), businesses and organizations that serve the public must allow people with disabilities to bring their service animals into all areas of the facility where customers are normally allowed to go. This federal law applies to all businesses open to the public, including restaurants, hotels, motels, taxis, buses, shuttles, airplanes, grocery and retail stores, hospitals, medical offices, theaters, health clubs, all parks, government buildings, and zoos.

For more information, please call the U.S. Justice Department ADA Information Line at (800) 514-0301 (voice) or (800) 514-0383 (TTY) or visit the ADA Business Connection at www.ada.gov.
